

Novel Publishing Group, LLC

Blog Tour Author Acknowledgement

At Novel Publicity we work to ensure maximum positive exposure for both you and your book.

All of our book reviewers are screened prior to coming onboard to ensure their blogs are established and to make sure they maintain certain minimum amounts of traffic.

However, none of the reviewers are employees of Novel Publicity, nor are they paid for their services. We can guarantee your book will receive thorough and due consideration from the reviewer who performs the review; however, as all reviews are the sole work and opinion of the individual book reviewers, Novel Publicity cannot guarantee any specific result for any review.

At Novel Publicity we recognize even the best and most engaging novels may not be universally appreciated and from time to time reviewers do not connect with a book. As a result of this, while we do not dictate what the reviewer may generate as a review, rather than posting a bad review we encourage reviewers who do not like a particular book to post a synopsis or to conduct an interview with an author.

If you have any questions about this policy, please feel free to ask us at any time.